praksės

table of contents

03 - project concept

04 - project statement

05 - problem statement

06 - statement of work + timeline

08 - audience statement

09 - research overview

10 - user personas

11 - competitive analysis

14 - branding

15 - moodboard

17 - brand identity

19 - wireframes

20 - low-fidelity

26 - high-fidelity

32 - final deliverables

concept

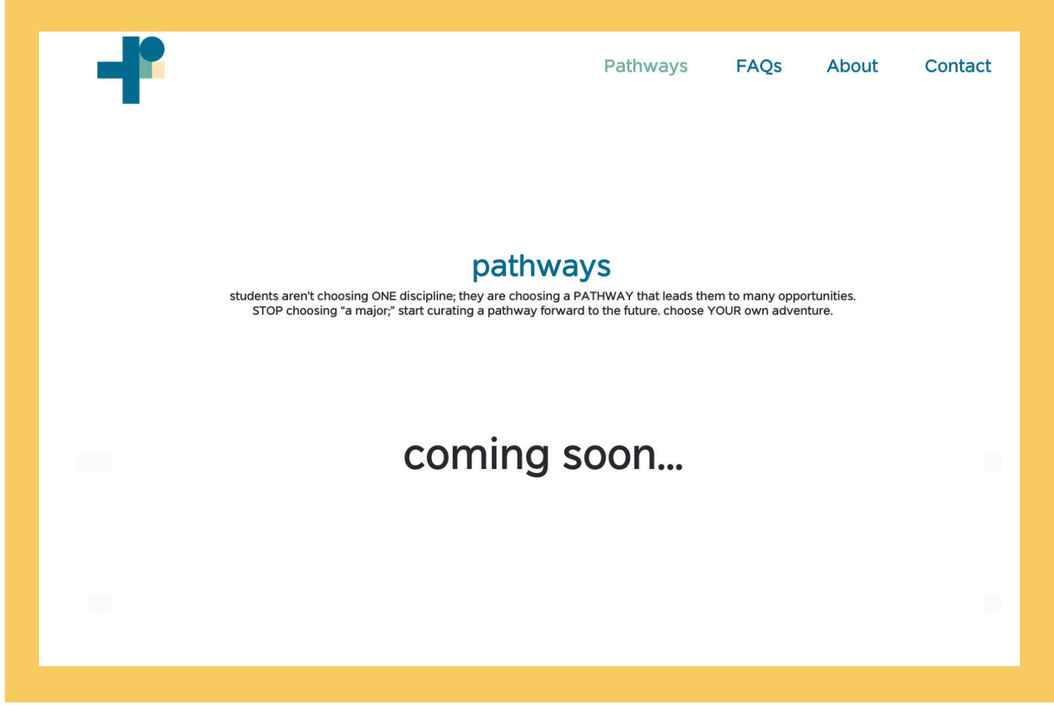

the project

project statement

My project is to design a website for an educational organization. This is for Prakses, a college preparation makerspace that helps high school students discover their academic pathway and navigate a rapidly changing world and workforce. I have a personal connection to this space as a former student, and I wanted to design something that could help both the business and students navigate their own path.

Without a strong website, prakses is limiting its potential reach, making it more difficult to connect with the students who would benefit most from its programs. Currently, the business has a site; however, it is outdated and is not complete yet. One of the main sections on the site has been empty for years, and it would be quite helpful for students to have. This matters because having a well-designed, completed website will not only help the organization but also provide important resources for the students. Ultimately, a website would allow for prakses to have an organized, digital space for communicating their mission, improving resource accessibility, and strengthening trust between both students and parents.

the problem

deliverables

statement of work

- website (Figma)
- design system/component library
- social media campaign/templates (Instagram)

timeline

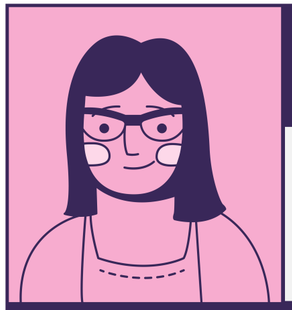

january	february	march	april
• topic selection • problem/project statements • defining audience • competitive analysis • user personas	• branding ◦ mood board ◦ logos ◦ colors • low-fidelity wire frames • information architecture	• mid/high-fidelity wireframes • building component library • usability testing • begin social media campaign	• social media campaign • iterating designs • presentation preparation • final process book

target audience

High school students (~14-17 years old), typically from public high schools. They may have certain passions or career paths they are considering after high school, or need help with finding them. Another target audience would be the parents of these students, who are interested in providing college-prep support for their child. Prakses want to provide them with knowledge and resources that will set students up for college & beyond.

research

user personas

Vivian

- Age: 16
- Ethnicity: Nepali American
- Location: Los Angeles, California
- Occupation: High School Student

Vivian is a student in her senior year of high school. She attends a public school in California and is interested in pursuing pre-med during college. She hopes to be a pediatrician in the future.

GOALS

- Wants to be pre-med in undergraduate as a neuroscience major
- Hopes to get into a high-ranking university

NEEDS

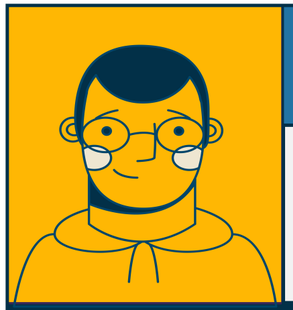

- Needs assistance on her essays and wants advice from pre-med students
- Needs an organized way to keep track of her application deadlines

FRUSTRATIONS

- Feels pressure from her parents in order to meet their expectations
- Nervous about figuring our what to write in her essays

CURRENT BEHAVIORS

- Likes looking at top programs for pre-med to make a list of schools to apply to
- Has been studying for/taking the SAT in order to get a high score

Tyler

- Age: 17
- Ethnicity: White American
- Location: Santa Clarita, California
- Occupation: High School Student

Tyler is a junior in high school. He is interested in going to college, but is not quite sure yet of what career pathway to go down. He comes from a low-income family and would be a first-generation student.

GOALS

- Wants to discover a passion / an academic or career path they want to pursue
- Hopes to be the first in their family to attend college

NEEDS

- Needs a space to be able to explore different potential majors or careers
- Needs someone to talk to about advice for college-prep and how to receive financial aid

FRUSTRATIONS

- Feels lost on how to approach anything regarding college/ college applications
- Feels nervous about the financial aspect of college and needing to receive financial aid

CURRENT BEHAVIORS

- Is a part of his high school's chess club
- Recently took the PSAT at his school and got a decent score on it

Steven

- Age: 55
- Ethnicity: Chilean
- Location: Pasadena, California
- Occupation: Parent / Scientist

Steven is a parent of a high school daughter who is in her junior year of high school. He wants to help provide her resources beyond her school in order to help her prepare for college applications.

GOALS

- Make sure her daughter is well-prepared for college applications
- Provide access to resources/ opportunities outside of school (tutoring, extracurriculars, test prep, workshops, etc.)

NEEDS

- Reliable information about college admissions and what schools want to see in students
- Access to educational resources, programs, and tools such as SAT prep, essay guidance, etc.

FRUSTRATIONS

- Feeling unsure about what resources are trustworthy or effective (have a good ROI)
- Limited time to research possible opportunities

CURRENT BEHAVIORS

- Searches online for college prep resources in hopes of finding a reliable source
- Asks his friends and families for advice

competitive analysis

view in-depth analysis

direct competitors

	elite educational institute	crimson education	the princeton review pros	• highlights their outcomes & student successes • provides resources for different careers	• feels lively due to the moving animations & graphics • shares metrics, student success stories, testimonials, etc.	• uses images & large metrics to share company's success • features reviews from students cons	• difficult website to navigate through • too many items in navigation bar	• navigation bar is too text-heavy & overwhelming • more tailored to parents than students	• site is overwhelming; too many options to select from • uses a generic tone throughout the site

view full-page analysis

competitor analysis (branding)

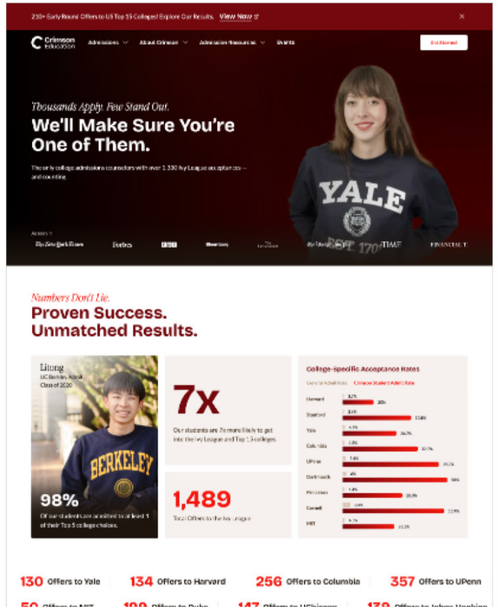

elite

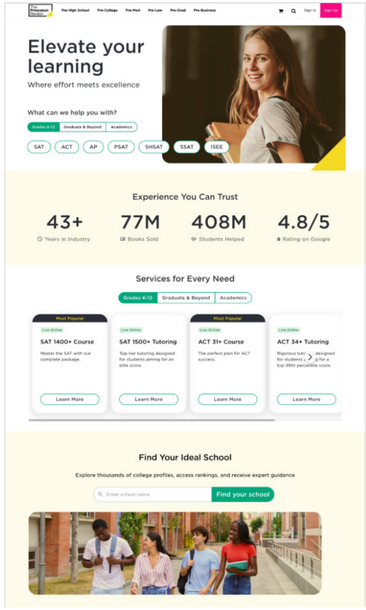

crimson education

princeton review

prakses

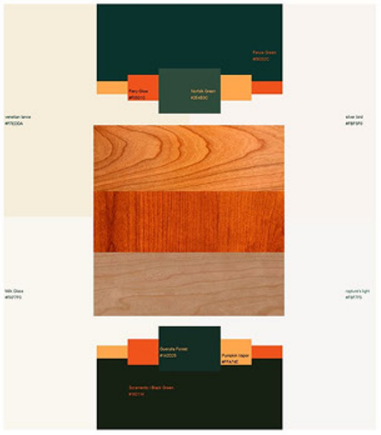

branding

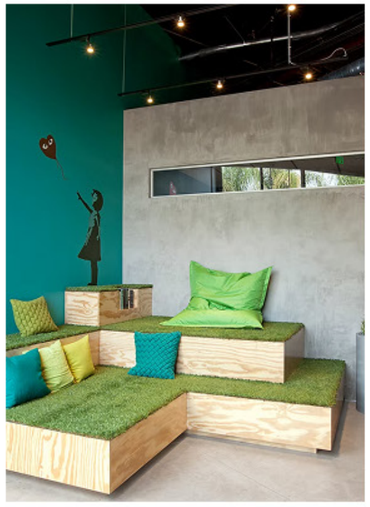

moodboard

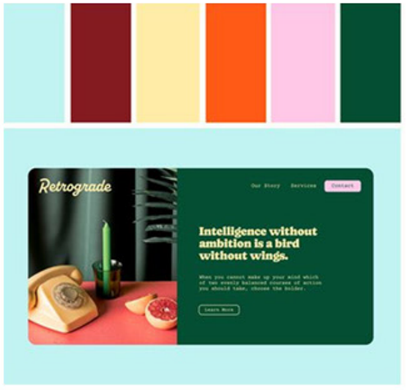

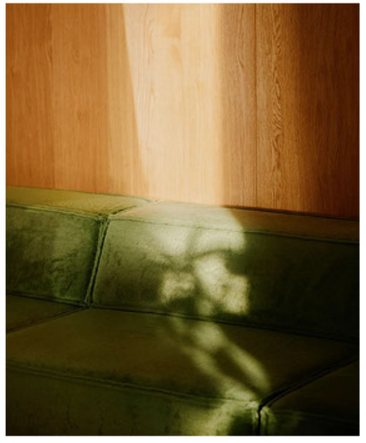

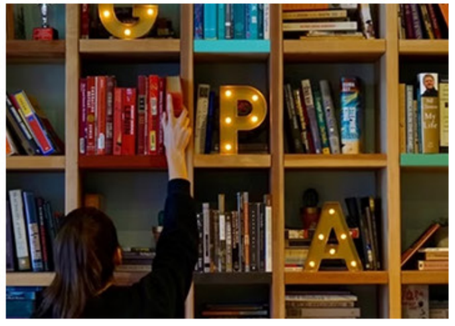

Retrograde
Our Story
Services
Contact
Intelligence without ambition is a bird without wings.
Learn More

BRA•ZU•CA
Brazilian;
born in Brazil.

GRAPEFRUIT
LYCHEE
TANGERINE
LEMON
ALGAE
SPINACH
the freshest fruit to your doorstep.
KOHAMA FRESH JUICE

brand identity

prakses

urbane rounded

body text (urbanist)

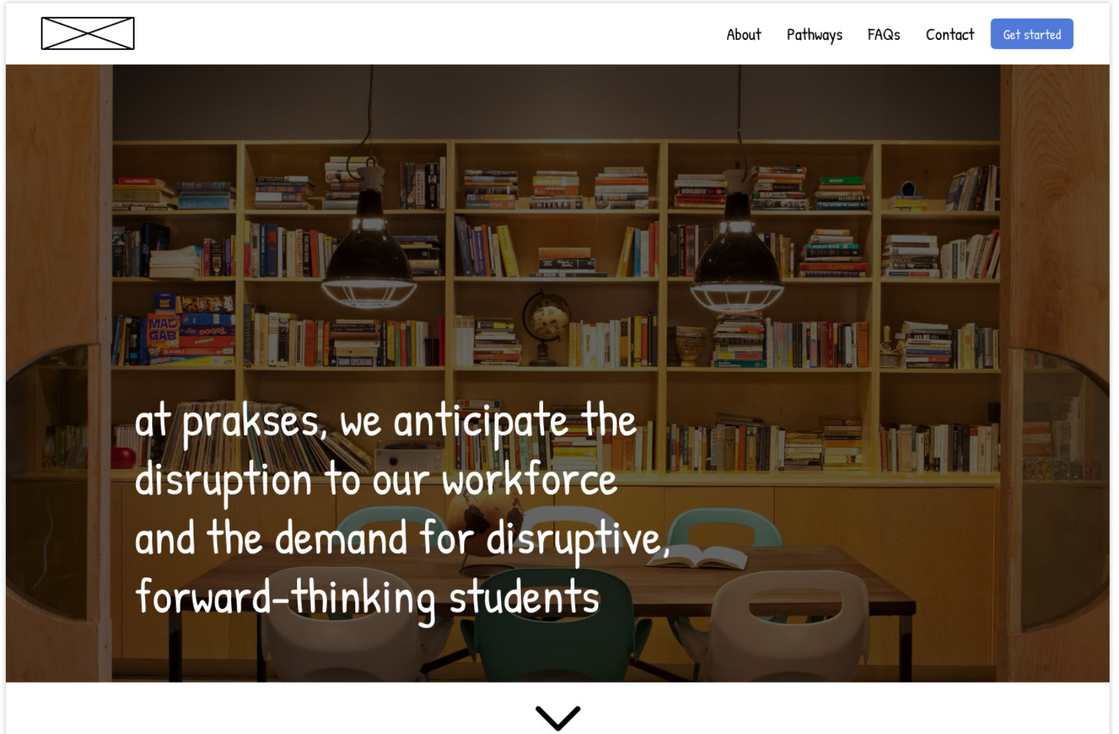

wireframes

link to figma

low fidelity

home

view on figma

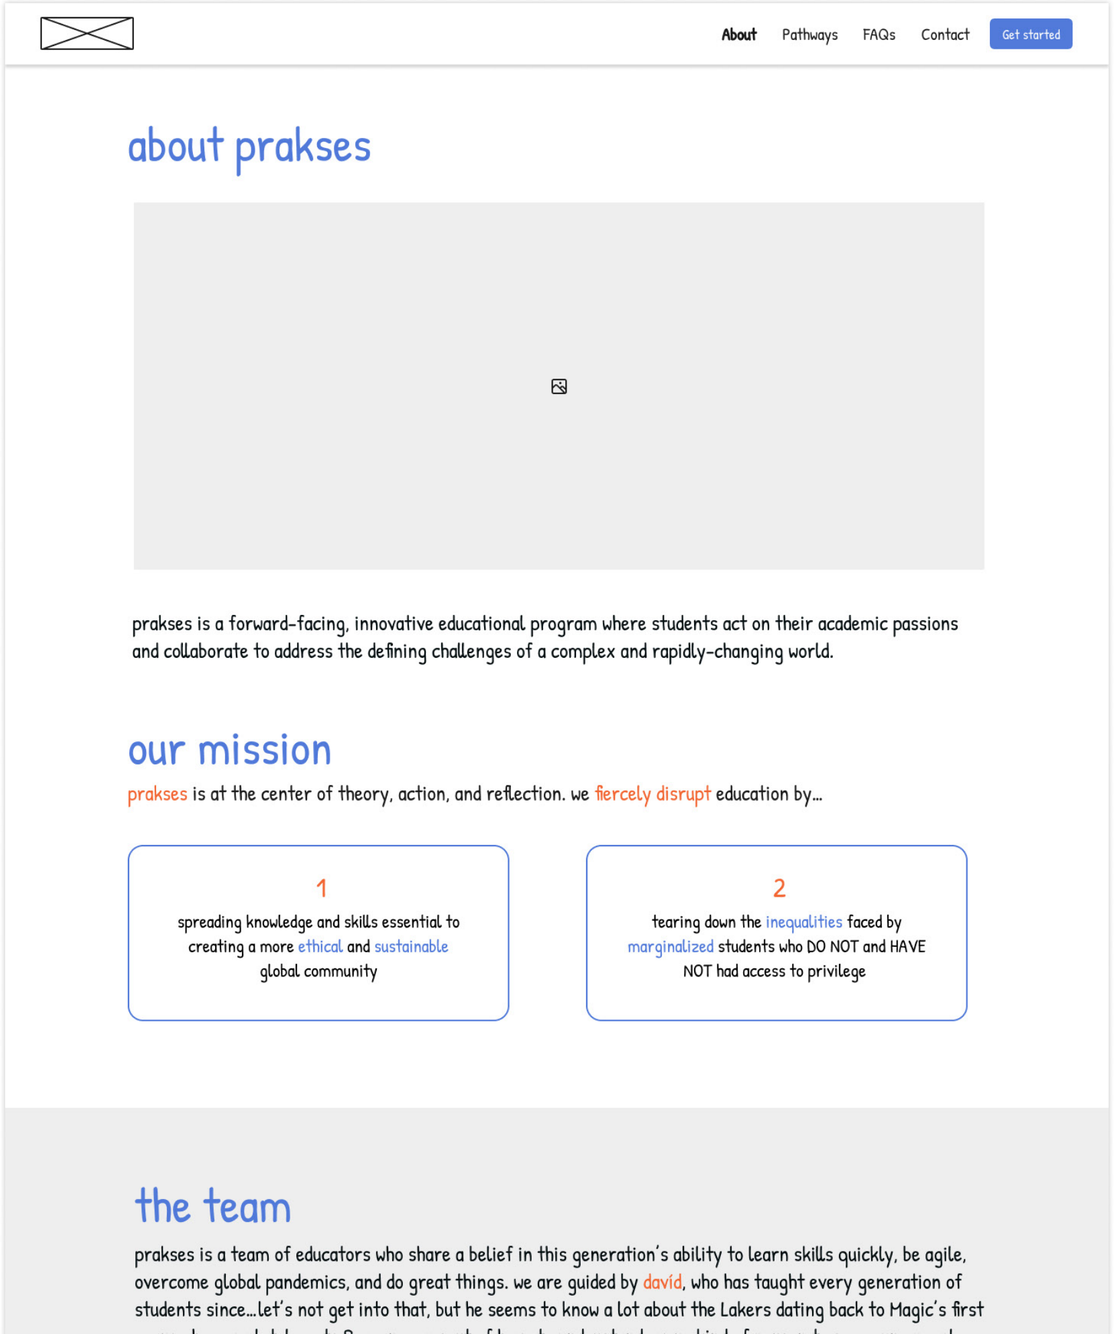

what is prakses?

ai and the latest industrial revolution are disrupting all aspects of our lives. shakespeare can't save us, and

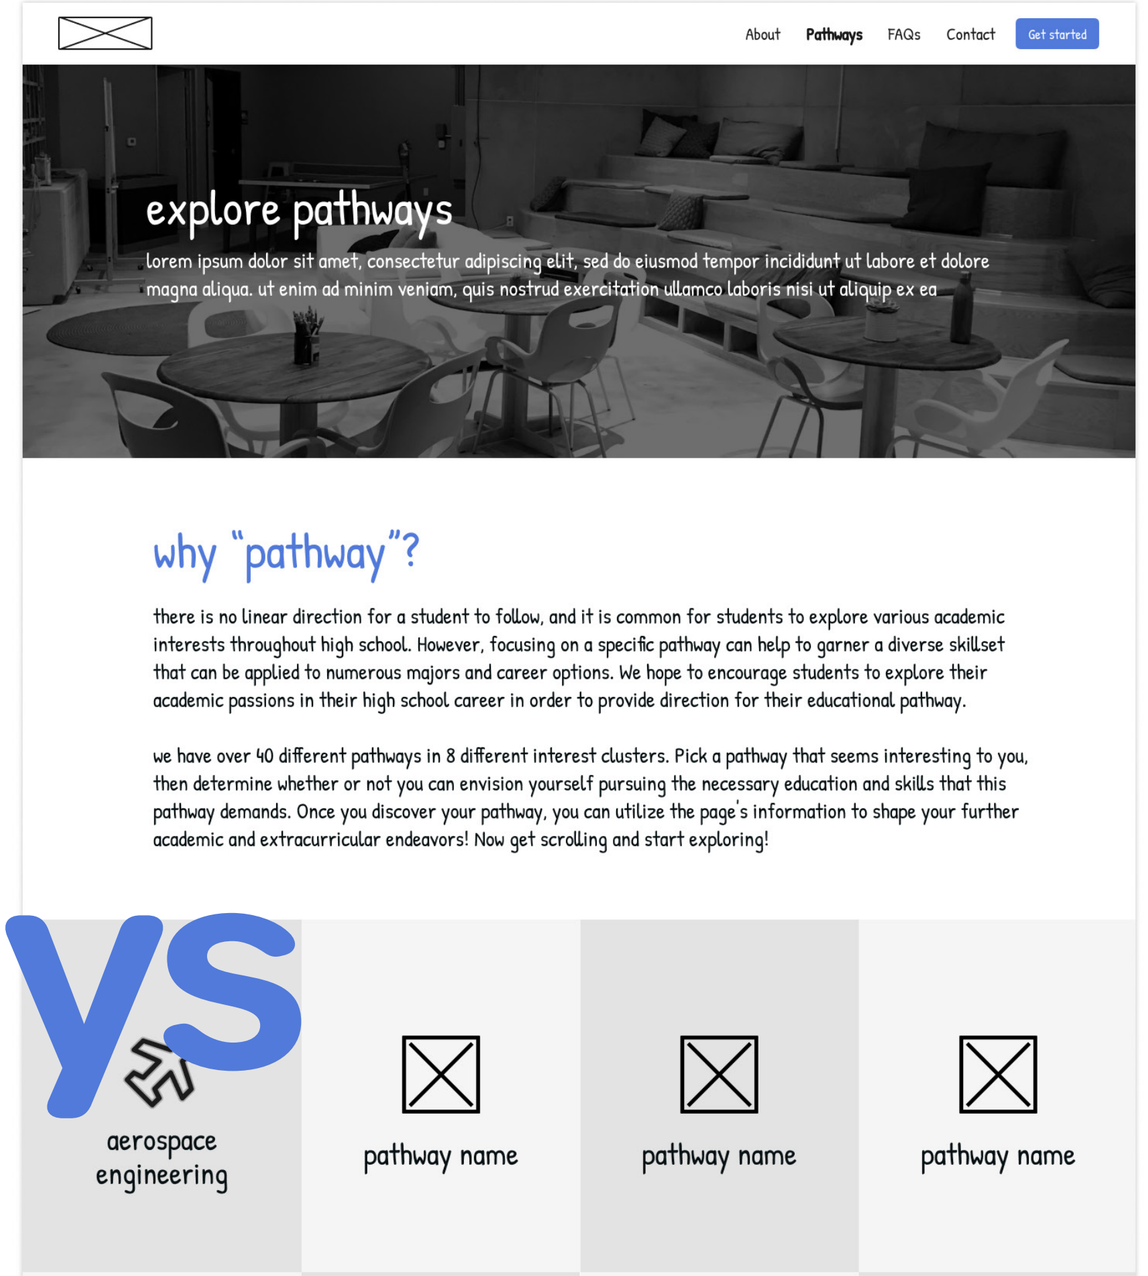

about

view on figma

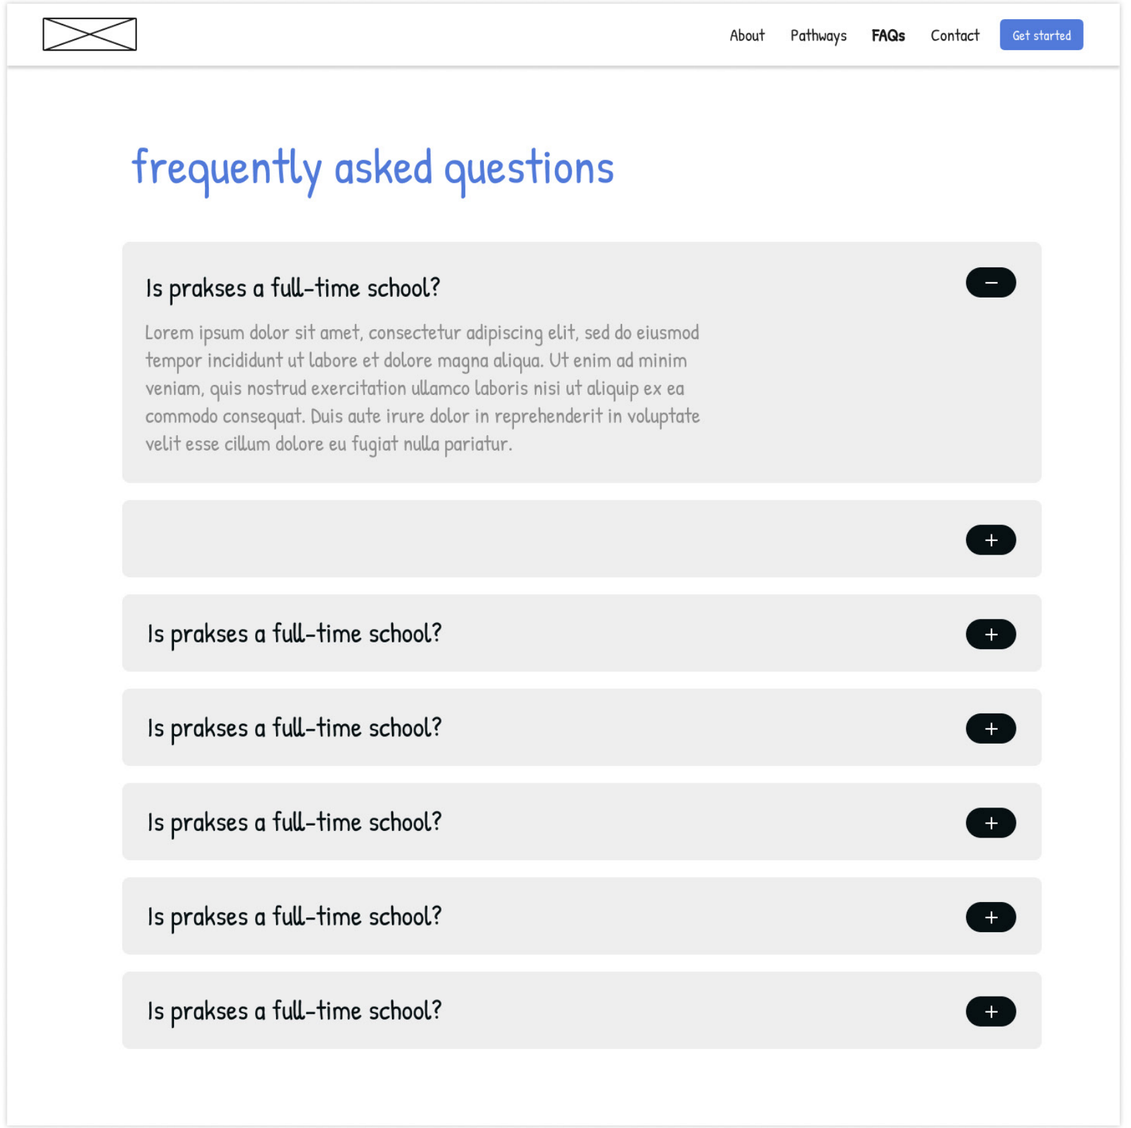

pathways

view on figma

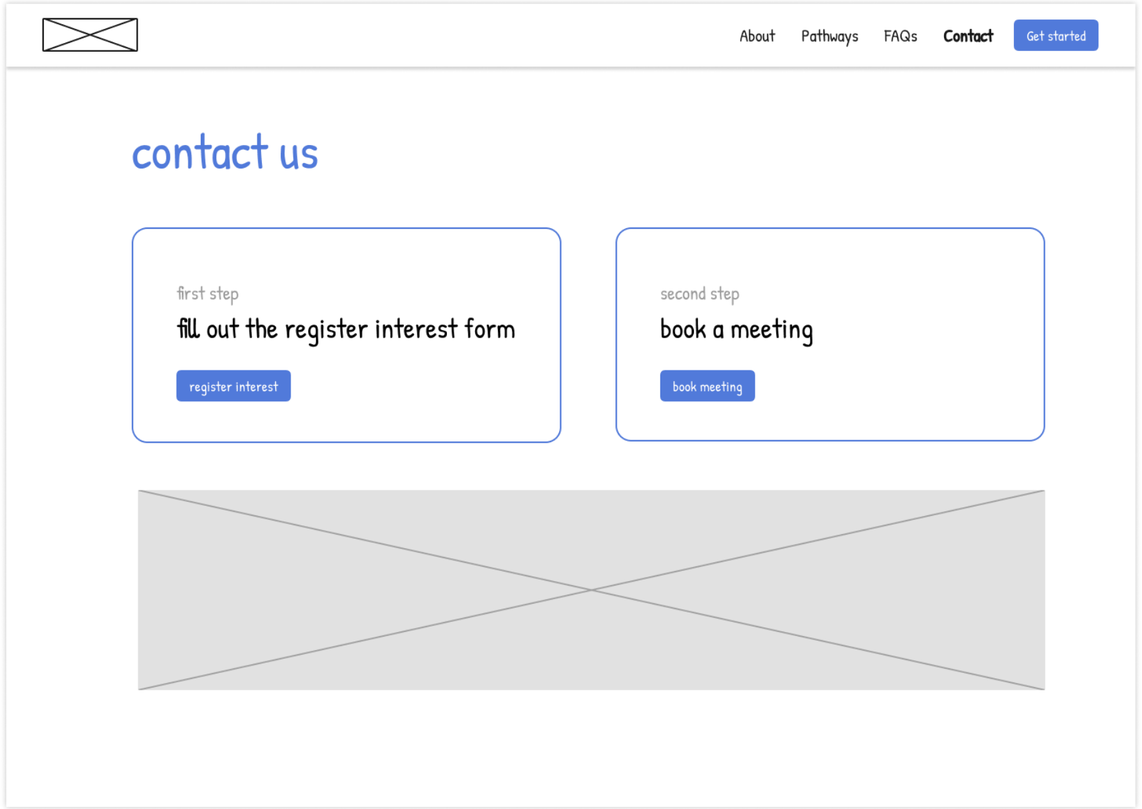

FAQs

view on figma

view on figma

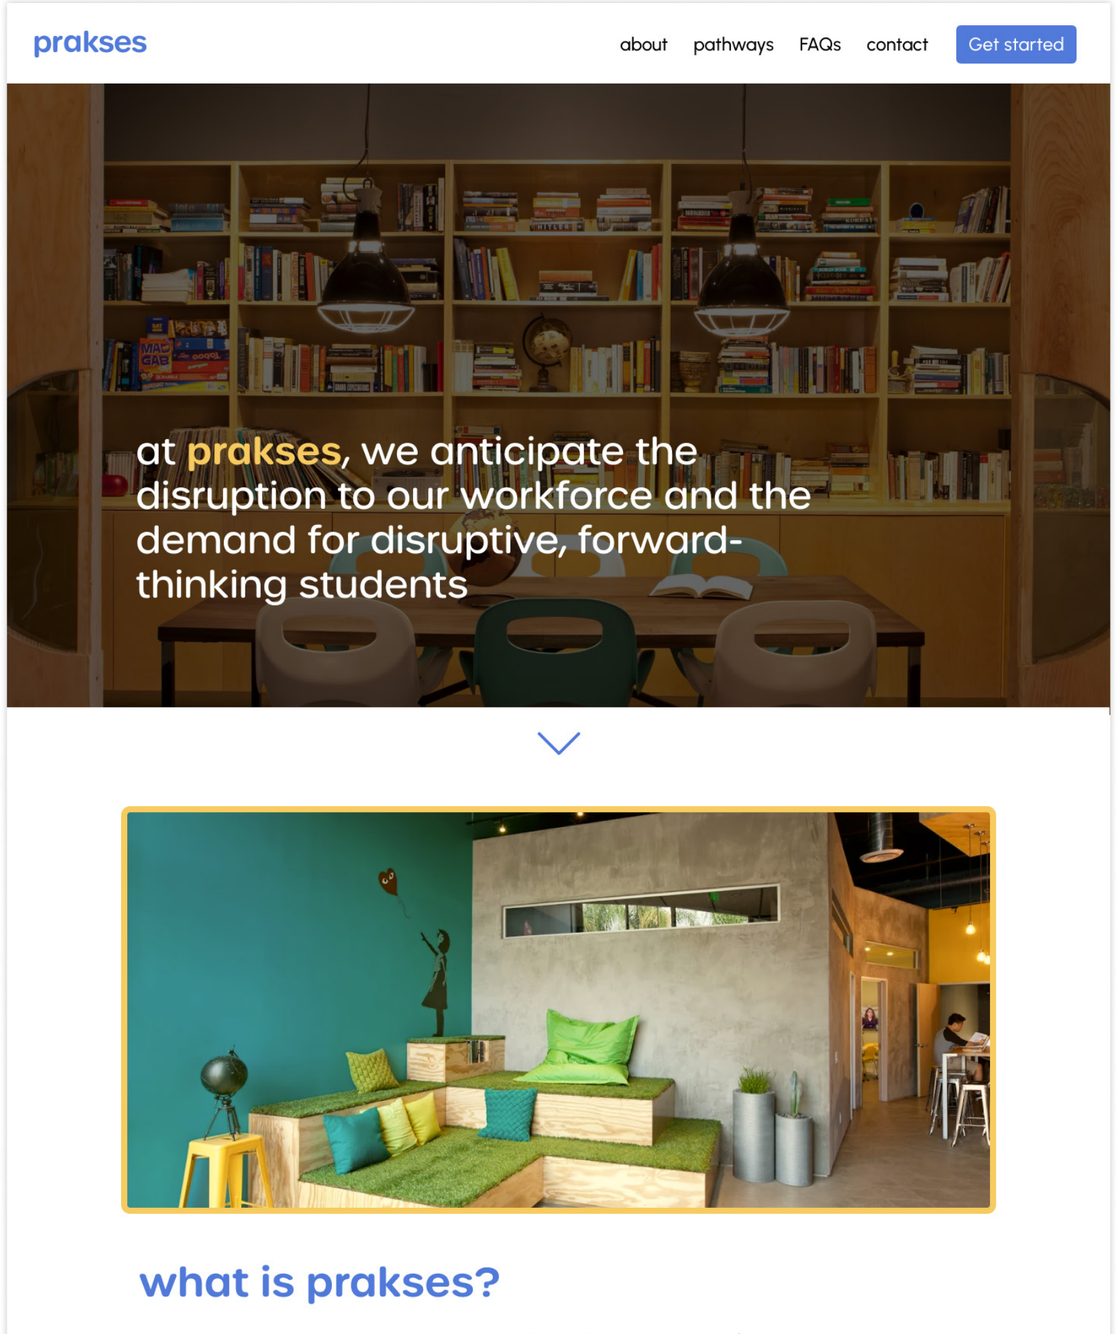

contact

link to figma

hi-fi

view on figma

home

about

view on figma

prakses

about pathways FAQs contact Get started about prakses

prakses is a forward-facing, innovative educational program where students act on their academic passions and collaborate to address the defining challenges of a complex and rapidly-changing world.

our mission prakses is at the center of theory, action, and reflection. we fiercely disrupt education by...

1 spreading knowledge and skills essential to creating a more ethical and sustainable global community

2 tearing down the inequalities faced by marginalized students who DO NOT and HAVE NOT had access to privilege

the team

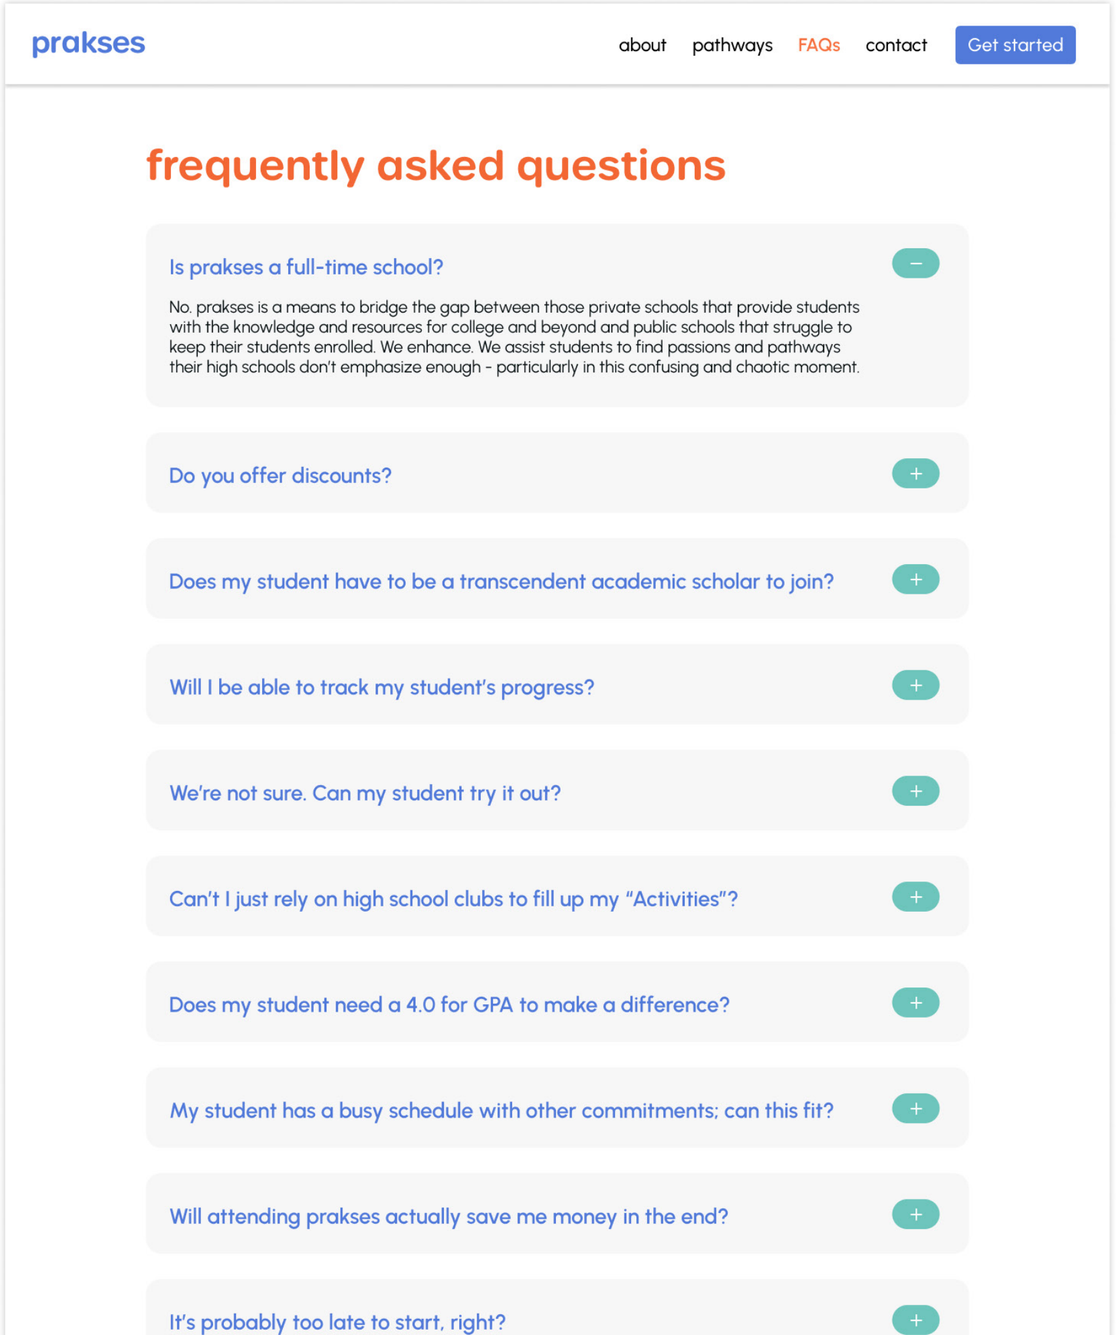

view on figma

pathways

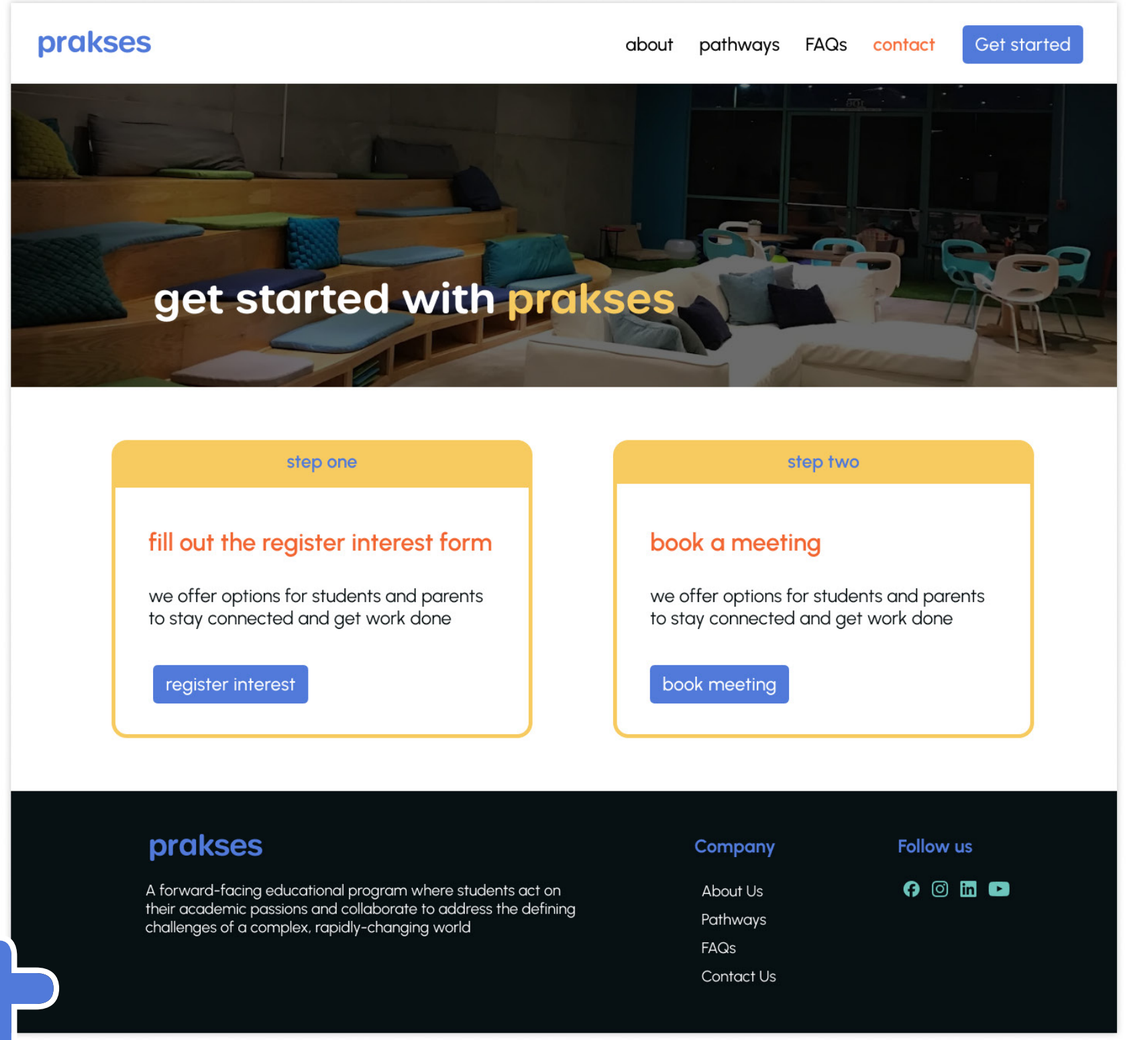

view on figma

FAQs

view on figma

contact

final deliverables

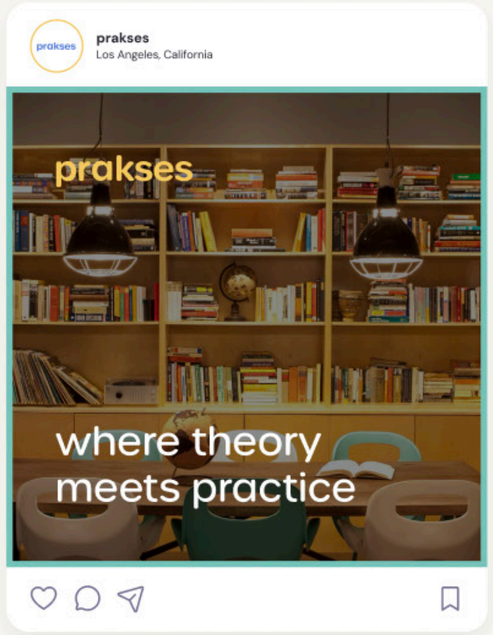

link to figma

final website

link to figma

component library

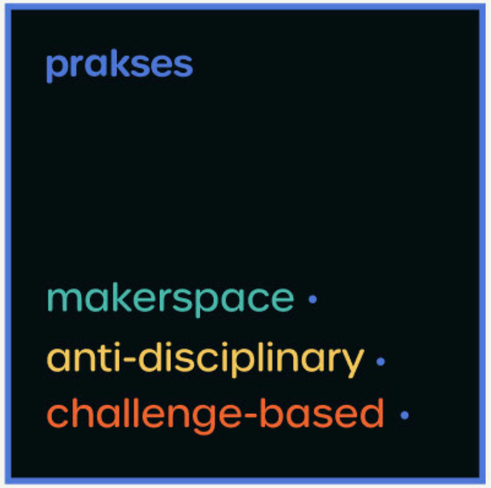

social media

prakses
Los Angeles, California
prakses
where theory
meets practice

prakses

a space for curation, curiosity,
and collaboration
prakses

prakses
find your passion

prakses
makerspace • anti-disciplinary • challenge-based •

prakses
Los Angeles, California
prakses